

Then for a boat his quiver stood in stead

The second part

William Byrd (c.1540-1623)

Superius (part 1 of 3)

Songs of sundrie natures (London, 1589)

1
Then for a boat his qui-ver stood in stead, his bow un-bent,— did serve him—

5
for a mast, where-by to sail his cloth of veil he spread, he spread,— where-by— to sail his cloth of veil.

10
— he—spread, his shafts for oars on ei-ther board he cast, his shafts for oars on ei-ther board he

15
cast, on ei - ther board he— cast, from ship-wrack safe this wag got thus to shore, from 20

ship-wrack safe this wag got thus to shore, got thus to shore, and sware, and sware, to 25

bathe in lo-ver's tears no— more, to bathe in lo-ver's tears no more, in lo-ver's tears no— more.
